Rebecca is a Director for Fenix Financial Forensics LLC (F3) with over 16 years of litigation and financial consulting experience involving healthcare, construction, government claims, and other general commercial areas. Her experience includes providing forensic accounting related to investigations and disputes, computing damages, performing strategic analysis and preparing expert witness reports for litigation and arbitration proceedings. She specializes in complex data analysis and financial modeling.

Rebecca has many years of experience in the healthcare industry. Her healthcare experience includes regulatory compliance, fraud and investigation consulting, contractor and construction claims, Medicare cost report preparation and Medicare reimbursement consulting. Rebecca's other industry experience includes non-profits, agriculture, financial services, and consumer products including multi-level marketing.

Rebecca also has significant experience in preparing affirmative and rebuttal expert reports; assisting counsel in preparing for depositions; and providing consulting services to distressed companies, including analyzing and projecting cashflows.

In addition to her consulting experience, Rebecca has prior government experience, including working directly with the Controller and Internal Auditor of a county hospital. There Rebecca worked on special projects, including overseeing the billing process for an out-patient clinic, and reconciling accounts within the hospital accounting system to the county accounting system. Rebecca also worked as a finance officer at a federal agency.
